United Basketball has two primary goals: Development and Exposure. This program focuses on player improvement and development throughout each season. Players have the opportunity to play on very competitive teams that participate in high level, exposure-based tournaments throughout the spring and summer. United Basketball teams are the most competitive and committed teams. These teams are for dedicated players who have aspirations to play collegiate basketball. This program requires both a financial and time commitment.

United AAU has added three new boys teams for the 2012 season: 6th, 7th and 8th Grade. Darrien Pinkman, the new director for the boys program, has spent a lot of time in the off-season choosing his new staff and laying out a model program for success.
